

Digital Photography Explained

Whether you are new to digital cameras or new to parenting (or both), book a session with us and let Henry Aarvold help you capture those treasured family moments.

Overview

Get personal tuition with one of Newcastle's best professional photographers. Discover how to take better pictures and learn about the basics of digital photography in just half a day.

What do you need?

A digital compact camera (or better) with a charged battery and empty memory card, a bit of enthusiasm and, of course, your baby or toddler

What's involved

Learn the basics of how your digital compact camera works without having to read the manual.

Practical guidance and demonstration to help you capture better pictures inside and outside

Take pictures with your own camera and see your images improve

How to use light to achieve the most natural pictures

When to use flash and when not to; learn the limitations of your camera

Book a one-to-one session with Henry or arrange a group session with other mums and/or dads - this is especially suitable for baby&mum social events - maximum of 5 adults. A half-day tuition and practical instruction (3 hours), including lifestyle portrait session is available for £250.

Better digital photographs? - So what's next?

Digital Overload? Wandering what to do with all the great photographs you have taken? Got a PC or Mac but not sure how to get the best from your own images? Would you like to produce your own prints, photobooks, calendars etc. but don't know where to start?

Receive personal instruction and advice on basic image editing, printing, hardware and software, storage and filing your images. Two hours personal tuition in your own home with a professional digital photographer - £125