Lifestyle portraiture with a difference - no stuffy boring studio, you can choose the location; a favourite walk, the beach, your own back-yard whatever you prefer. Bring the dog (or not), dress smart, dress casual. Book a morning afternoon or evening shoot; just have fun and get great photographs. Kids only or the whole family together, you decide.

Henry's approach to portraiture is always based around putting people at ease, a relaxed and fun photo-shoot is the only way to get the best from children and adults alike. No posing, no bright lights, be yourself and enjoy. A session is normally two to three hours in duration, the best images from this go to form a slideshow that is used to in the viewing, which occurs at later date. From this slideshow you get to choose what images and products you want.

Professionalism, contemporary imagery and a relaxed approach make Henry Aarvold Photography one of the most exciting and sought after social photographers around.
